8,000 CATTLE

On the Market Court Day.--Prices Good and Sales Brisk.--Mules Were Off.

(BY ASA BEAN)

Between 7,000 and 8,000 cattle on the market. The quality was medium, with a few bunches of good cattle. Trade was brisk and prices good. The best 1,000-lb. steers sold at 5 to 5 1/2c, but only a few lots sold at these prices. The bulk of sales at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4c. Yearling steers at $4.25 to $4.75, with a few bunches as high as 5c. Heifers at 3 1/2 to 4c. Cows at $3 to $3.75. Bulls at 3 1/2 to 4c. Old cows and rough oxen 1 1/2 to 2c. Big crowd at the pens and while sales were not as brisk as last court, the scales were kept pretty busy weighing. A great many cattle sold during the day to buyers in this State and quite a number sold that were shipped to other States. Some traders refilled their pens as often as five or six times during the day by bringing in cattle from the pastures. The market has grown until we have not the room to accommodate the stock brought here for sale.

The sign has attracted wide attention and the members of the firm have received congratulations on every hand for this progressive step.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

An agreement was drawn up at a conference between the officials of the Burley Tobacco Society and W. F. Axton, of Louisville, representing the independent tobacco manufacturers, by which all suits between the society and independent manufacturers may be dismissed. This agreement was signed by President Clarence LeBus and Secretary J. M. Rankin, of the Burley Society, and taken by Mr. Axton for the purpose of securing the signatures of the independent manufacturers, the agreement becoming effective when 80 per cent. of the latter have signed. For about two years suits and counter suits have been pending in the courts.

The police at Frankfort have been requested to keep a special lookout at the Governor's mansion as a matter of precaution against any attempt that might be made to set fire to the famous old structure. A discharged employee of the Governor is suspected of poisoning all the chickens that the Governor had, and there is thought to be some danger that further efforts at revenge might be made.

In the trial of Thomas Dolan at Lexington, charged with the killing of Patrick Mooney, the jury failed to reach a verdict and was dismissed.

Tennyson's New Woman.

When did the phrase, the new woman, first occur? The idea itself was probably put into its definite modern shape by Tennyson in "The Princess"—the germ of the poem having perhaps come into his mind when the first college for women in England was being discussed. Many aspects of the question are given in this "Medley," and Tennyson certainly could not today be called radical. He attacks with equal cogency the bigoted property-view built up by men and the overhasty opinions that are inconsistent with woman's special and profoundly important function. The general truth is this:

The woman's cause is man's: they rise or sink together, dwarfed or godlike, bond or free.

There is one special warning:

For woman is not undeveloped man, But diverse.

And what of the future?

Not like to like, but like in difference. Yet in the long years like must they grow: The man be more of woman, she of man; He gain in sweetness and in moral height. Nor lose the wrestling thews that throw the world;

She mental breadth, nor fall in childward care, Nor lose the childlike in the larger mind.

Be it so. Change we must. To nature largely we are compelled to leave the safeguarding of what has been noblest, most unselfish, and best for the race in the inadequate but still infinitely valuable standards of the past.

For Sale.

On account of bad health, I have decided to sell my farm, containing 109 acres, located on the Spencer pike, about 2½ miles from Mt. Sterling. This is one of the best farms in the county, most of it being sown down in grass. Lots of good tobacco land. Lays well and nearly every foot can be cultivated. Has good new house on it, one of the best stock barns in the county and other outbuildings. It is within half mile of church and school house and has railroad station almost at the gate. This is a rare opportunity for anyone that wants to buy a splendid farm.

INSECTS KILLING BIG GAME

Bulldog Flies Attack the Moose, Which Take Refuge in Water and Are Drowned.

Bulldog flies are killing big game along the international boundary, according to County Commissioner Helic Clementson. Two moose were killed last week near a lumber camp on the east fork of Rapid river, and in his opinion large numbers of fine animals have lost their lives the last week.

The flies, which are fully a half inch long, are more plentiful than for many years and attack the moose in large numbers. Their stings drive the animals to distraction and in a crazed condition the rush through the woods, often entering log camps filled with men. They seek water and several have been drowned in attempting to evade the tormenting flies. A big moose was pulled out of the river twice last Thursday by lumbermen and the flies brushed off.

The deer are more fortunate in escaping the pests and have not suffered very much as yet, but are having their troubles from the deer flies. —Bemidji correspondence Minneapolis Journal.

NOT BUILDING THE TEMPLE

Methodist's Rebuke of Presbyterian Brother Who Was One of the Quiet Kind.

A Presbyterian minister who had very conservative ideas dropped in one night on a Methodist revival where an extraordinary amount of exhorting and shouting were going on. He sat down in a seat far toward the back, and though he felt in sympathy with the work going on he could not bring himself to engage in the same kind of vocal activity. Presently a Methodist brother named Smith went back and urged him to come up and join the rank of workers, but the conservative held back, exclaiming: "I am one of the quiet kind, you know, and don't believe in so much noise and hubbub; you must remember, Brother Smith, that in the building of the temple there was heard neither the sound of saw nor of hammer."

"Humph!" snorted Brother Smith, "we are not building temples here, we are just blasting rock. The Lord's going to look after the temple."

THE REASON.

Senator Rayner, the wit of the senate, told at a dinner in Baltimore a story of the South.

"A northerner," he said, "was surprised, during a southern tour, by the number of Taliaferros he found everywhere. Doctors, lawyers, undertakers, clothiers—all seemed to be Taliaferros. The northerner put up in nearly every town at a Hotel Taliaferro, and, if he wanted a cigar, a Taliaferro sold it to him."

He couldn't understand it at all—till one day, motoring through a splendid country, he saw a tremendous mill that bore in vast letters the inscription, 'Taliaferro Manufacturing company.'

"Oho!" he said, 'they turn them out by steam!'"

THE TRAVELER'S COMFORT.

A slipper without a heel, which is so soft that it can be folded and put into a very small space, is a new invention designed for the traveler. We have had cretonne hats and coats, cretonne covers for the furniture, and now cretonne slippers are among the latest things. A woman was making a pair the other day without a pattern. She bought a pair of soles, such as are used for the crocheted slippers, put her foot on the floor, fitted the cretonne over the instep and the rest was easy. She bound the top of the slipper and sewed the lower edge to the sole. It will prove a great convenience for wear in the sleeper during the night journey.

HE WAS ROLLING IN WEALTH

Man in Vermont Mountains Who Had a Hundred Dollars Was Considered Very Rich.

Fred Emery was visiting in the mountains of Vermont last summer when he met, on the road, a long-whiskered and talkative old man. There ensued the following conversation between the mountaineer and Emery:

"Be you acquainted in these parts?"

"I sure be."

"Be you acquainted with Seth Anderson?"

"I sure be. I know Seth well. He lives up on the Valley road."

"Waal, waal! Be you acquainted with Cy Southbridge?"

"I sure be. He lives down on the Mill road."

"Waal, now! Be you acquainted with Cy's daughter, Mary?"

"I sure be. She's a mighty likely-looking girl."

"Waal, Mary is married to a wealthy man—an all-fired wealthy man!"

"You don't tell me!"

"An all-fired wealthy man! Why her husband is worth one hundred dollars!"—Popular Magazine.

SHE DIDN'T REALLY MEAN IT

Rejected Sultor Takes Young Lady at Her Word and Receives Only Abuse.

"I'm so sorry," she said, as gently as possible. "But I cannot be all that you wish in your life. I will always think of you as a very dear friend, though."

"Thanks," he muttered.

"And if there is any way in which I can ever help you by advice or endeavor you must not hesitate to call on me."

"Do you mean it? Well, there is a way, right now."

"What can I do?"

"You have refused to marry me. So I thought I'd propose to Mollie Jones. If you'll see her and put in a good word for me it'll help me a lot and might make me the happiest man on earth. My destiny's still in your hands, and—"

And that was all he said. For she interrupted him by saying that he was the meanest, lowest, sneakiest man on earth and that she would never speak to him again as long as she lived.

SATIRIST FOR OUR SINS.

Mr. Robert Herrick has said a true word in declaring America's need of a great satirical novelist. That is a golden gift to any age or any nation, but never, it must seem to us, would such a gift be more timely than at this stage of the democratic experiment in America. Its special value to us would lie in its access to our national sense of humor. That sense is now chiefly a mere joke, irresponsible, unpropionate, inconclusive and superficial. But to a great satirical humorist it would open wide to the light. The trouble with much of our self-flagellation is that it lacks true proportion, which is the strong merit of satire. It is not merely serious. It is a glum. It has not the tonic sting of high comedy. Against it not only our sensual complacency reacts, but also our common sense.

"CAPTURING" AN EAGLE.

One of the incidents of the last season in Dead River region that escaped press notice at the time was the fact that William Ledyard of Boston and Albert Leavering of New York, then guests at Round Mountain camps, attempted to capture an eagle and were unable to carry off the sky king alive. The furious bird made such good use of his beak and claws that the gentlemen were finally obliged to hold him under water until he was drowned, in order to demonstrate that one of them was not in reality a captive of the eagle. —From Maine Woods.

INAUGURAL PARTY.

A prominent Democrat and citizen of the county has suggested that the Democrats of Montgomery county should follow the example of other counties and have a large delegation attend the Inauguration on Tuesday, December 12. Rates have been secured on all railroads and as many have never seen the capitol or these impressive ceremonies, we are sure it would prove a most enjoyable trip.

In a number of cities, special trains have been chartered and streamers containing various inscriptions will appear on the coaches. Quite a number of delegations will be accompanied by brass bands and we hope the suggestion will meet with popular approval here and that old Montgomery, which rolled up the largest majority of any county in the Commonwealth, everything considered, will be well represented when Governor McCreary takes the oath of office and democracy comes into possession of its own.

REWARD THE WORTHY.

Our worthy contemporary, the Sentinel-Democrat, is quite right when it says in its last issue that the many appointments to be made under the incoming administration should fall to the loyal Democrats by whose unceasing labors the great victory was made possible.

There is a coterie of office-seekers living at Frankfort who never get very active except in their own behalf in the event of success.

Personally we are not applicants for anything political and have the application of no one in mind when we say we like to see the active, fighting Democrat receive recognition.

We congratulate Mayor Samuels and the police for the faithful manner in which they endeavored to enforce the Ordinance against "horse swapping" Monday, on the principal streets of our city. While it was not entirely stopped, the nuisance was abated to a very noticeable extent and we earnestly hope they will keep the good work up every court day from now on.

The present week will be one of generally fair weather and seasonable temperature throughout the country, according to the forecast for the week, issued by the Weather Bureau.

"Rains will continue in the North Pacific States during the next several days and snow flurries are probable at intervals on the Great Lakes. The next disturbance of importance to cross the country will appear in the Northwest Monday or Tuesday and move thence along the northern border to the St. Lawrence Valley, reaching the latter district about Friday. This disturbance will be attended by local snows in the Northern States and be followed by a change to colder weather over the northern half of the country. This cold change will appear in the Northwestern States about the middle of the week."

Deaths Exceed Births in France.

The serious attention of the public has again been called to the depopulation question in France by the publication of official statistics. These cover the first six months in 1911 and show an excess of deaths over births of 18,279. The figures are all the more discouraging from the fact that in the same period in 1910 the births exceeded the deaths by 21,189. The figures for 1911, from January to June, inclusive, are as follows:
Population, 39,252,245; marriages, 153,931; divorces, 6,374; births, 385,999; deaths, 404,278.

WHICH WOULD YOU CHOOSE?

If you saw a row of apples, everyone differing in size, ripeness and color, and all for sale at the same price, wouldn't you choose the best? Why not do the same thing when you buy fire insurance? The cost of insurance is substantially the same in all agencies, but what you get for your money varies as much as the apples in the row.

Choose then HOFFMAN'S INSURANCE AGENCY. For nearly Three Quarters of a Century it has paid every loss, big and little. Its reputation is unexcelled. It is the best fire insurance apple of them all, and its policies cost no more than those in agencies of inferior quality. Why not use the same judgment in buying insurance that you would in such a trivial matter as buying fruit at a fruit stand?

No Great Surplus of Hogs.

The number of stock hogs for fattening this season is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at Washington to be about 4 per cent larger than a year ago. According to its reports the North Atlantic states have no increase in hogs; the South Atlantic states an increase of 4.8 per cent; the North Central states east of the Mississippi River an increase of 5 per cent; the states of the same division west of the river an increase of 6.7 per cent; the South Central states have a decrease of 1.8 per cent, and the far western states an increase of 2.2 per cent, making the net increase in the number of hogs for the whole Union 3.8 per cent.

Trade estimates commonly put the increase at a higher figure, but concede that the ravages of cholera and the premature marketing of pigs are reducing the number available for later slaughtering. Accordingly both the Government and the commercial views of the situation indicate no great surplus of hogs.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING

Is the way Miss Alta Abel of West Baden, Ind., summed up her existence after having sought in vain for health. She writes: "I was a complete wreck—always tired, worn out and nervous. I had to spend about one-third of my time in bed."

"Vinol, your delicious cod liver and iron tonic, was recommended, and I can truly say it has done me more good than all the medicine I ever took in my life. That nervous and tired feeling is all gone. I have gained in health, flesh and strength, until I feel like another person." (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

What Vinol did for Miss Abel, we know it will do for every nervous, run-down, overworked, tired, thin and discouraged woman in this vicinity.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

TAKES OWN LIFE

Prominent Citizen of Shelbyville Cuts Throat Rather Than Face Illness.

Rather than face and fight against a lingering illness of hardening of the arteries and softening of the brain, James Morry Wakefield, owner of the Armstrong Hotel, and one of the best-known men in Shelby county, committed suicide in his bed in his new home in the west end of town last week by cutting his throat. The instrument which Mr. Wakefield employed was a small-bladed lady's knife, and from the wounds it was evident that he had made several attempts before his act was accomplished. At the time his son, James Heady Wakefield, was sleeping beside him, but did not discover the act until his father had nearly bled to death. He died about fifteen minutes afterward.

W. S. LLOYD'S BRIGHT IDEA

Plan Suggested by Him Adopted Successfully by a Large Concern.

When the Dr. Howard Company talked with W. S. Lloyd in regard to introducing their Specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia, he advised them to sell their 50 cent size at the popular price of 25 cents. He told them that he could sell ten bottles at this price where he could sell one at 50 cents, and the result has proven his business judgment. The sales on this now famous Specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia, have been so remarkably large that they have decided to make the price 25 cents in the future; not diminishing the amount of medicine that they put in each package, (60 doses, a month's treatment.) Dr. Howard's Specific is sold under W. S. Lloyd's absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure constipation, dyspepsia, and all forms of liver trouble. 20-3t

LOVE-MAKING STYLES CHANGE

Today the Flowery Sentiment of Old Time Plays is Considered Merely Melodramatic.

When a successful play of 25 or 30 years ago is revived critics invariably hasten to point out how theatrical and "old-fashioned" dramatic fare used to be in the last generation. And, in a sense, the criticism is quite justified. The sentiment of a former day cloys; the heroics only amuse us. Even so expert a workman as Sardou feels the changes of time. His set scenes—rage, denunciation, jealousy, terror—are nowadays dismissed as melodramatic. Actually, the difference is one of manner and not of essence. We are quite as fond of melodrama today as people were 30 years ago, if by melodrama one means impossible human beings acting in an impossible way. And, if anything, we are more sentimental today than the Victorians were. Only, once upon a time sentiment voiced itself in nicely turned and nicely balanced sentences succeeding each other in oratorical form. Today even sentiment has a lot of "go" to it. On the stage, as in the magazines, today the broad-shouldered young man who addresses spasmodic half sentences to the only woman in the world is as popular and as offensive as the heroes were in the age of vapors and antimacassars.

DRESS IN ITALIAN SENATE.

Considerable excitement was caused in the Italian senate the other day, writes a correspondent, by one of the ministers, the under secretary for the interior, Signor Falconi, entering the sacred precincts dressed in a fancy pattern morning coat instead of the black frock coat which is de rigueur. Several senators on seeing him take his seat on the government bench walked out as a mark of protest. Later when he arose to make a speech the opposition to his doing so in his unusual attire was so strong that Signor Falconi left the senate chamber, returning in a minute in the frock coat of an usher lent him for the occasion. On his reappearance he was loudly cheered.

TELL THIS ON THE V. P.

There is much quiet amusement in administration circles at anecdote relating to no less a person than the vice president.

A very sprightly lady who sat next to him at a dinner one evening last week turned suddenly to him and asked the question:

"Pray tell me how you ever happened to be called Sunny Jim."
"Madam," he wittily retorted, "I was called Sonny Jim when I was a little boy."

Immediately the whole table was in a roar.

FRUIT RAISING IN ENGLAND.

England sticks to her fruit raising. In ten years orchards increased 25,000 acres and small fruits 11,000. Last year there were 27,000 acres in strawberries, nearly 9,000 in raspberries, 25,000 in gooseberries and currants, 172,000 in apple trees, nearly 10,000 in pears, 12,000 in cherries and 16,000 in plums.

The World.

A favorite college song, which is now quivering again among the autumn-tinted leaves of oak and elm trees above many a campus, makes the plaintive inquiry:

Where, oh where, are the Grave Old Seniors? And in the next line waits the answer:

Safe now in the Wide, Wide World! College and the wide, wide world are not rival warring counties, and neither is ever named in any standard geography. Four years at college are not four years lifted out of life, or four years extra.

There is no reason why commencement day should mark either the beginning or the end of even what is known as "book learning." Diplomas and degrees are comforting decorations and generally are taken to signify that the recipients have had a certain amount of formal mental discipline; but no student living knows enough about any subject to have the right to regard himself as anything but an undergraduate. Michelangelo knew something about architecture, sculpture, and painting, and when he was eighty-nine he drew a picture showing himself in a cart and labeled it: Ancora Imparo (Still Learning).

HERE IS A REMEDY THAT WILL CURE SKIN AND SCALP AFFECTIONS

AND WE CAN PROVE IT.

The Thos. Kennedy Drug Store says to every person be it man, woman or child who has an irritated, tender, inflamed, itching SKIN or SCALP, you need not suffer another day. "We have a refined skin preparation that acts instantly and will bring you swift and sure results."

One warm bath with ZEMO SOAP and one application of ZEMO and you will not suffer another moment and you will soon see a cure in sight.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP are proven cures for every form of skin or scalp affection. They are sold by one leading druggist in every city or town in America and in Mt. Sterling by Thos. Kennedy's Drug Store. 16-20etc.

A reporter called at a business office today and caught the girl clerk prinking. Know what that is? It's what is improperly called primping.

If every man and woman of fair understanding and open mind would read every Sunday morning the fifth chapter of Matthew, which is the Sermon on the Mount, containing the beatitudes, this world would be happier than it is. One need not stop to discuss the doctrine of it, but just let the sweet spirit of it get into his life, as he lets the view of a fine landscape or a glorious sunset or the heavens filled with stars get into his soul, and it will put him in harmony with the all-pervading truth that ruleth all things, and will spread a vision before him that he never saw before. There is the best truth in the universe, better than one will find in the sciences, the arts, the philosophies, the histories, and a truth that one does not have to struggle to get but which comes to him as freely as the light goes into his eyes. All he has to do is to open his eyes, and there it is. If that fair gospel would get into the hearts of men, this world would be transformed in its culture, its politics, its social service, and the nine blessings therein named would shed a radiance over all human experience. Read it every Sunday before breakfast. It will take only five minutes.

The Right Note.

Senator Bradley struck the right note when he told his audience at the Greater Kentucky Convention that there must be something wrong in Kentucky when some of the neighboring States north and west of Kentucky, settled by men from this State, are forging ahead of us in material prosperity, although they have no advantage in natural resources.

A fair amount of pride in the soil is natural and creditable and valuable to a State, but a self-satisfied feeling of superiority is fatuous and hurtful. The time for shouting about women, horses and whisky has passed. It is time to shout for education, fairer taxation and good roads.

Agitation for a "greater" Kentucky reflects a proper dissatisfaction with some existing conditions and a degree of intelligence and sincerity not possessed by the grandiloquent stump orator who bellows about the greatness of Kentucky. The style of the convention holds out hope.

The truth was told by Mr. McFerran, who discussed the folly of talking about "greater" Kentucky without setting about systematically elevating the average of intelligence throughout the State.

There has been too much peanut politics at Frankfort and too little practical legislation. That is what is wrong with Kentucky, and why other States with no advantage in natural resources are growing richer than this State. A legislative body rarely legislates in advance of public opinion, but usually proves fairly responsive to popular demand. Mr. Atherton's suggestion that town meetings be held to allow citizens to express their views about road building, school improvement and tax laws, for the guidance of their representatives, is a good one. If such meetings should be held they should be attended by men of all political parties and politics should be for the time forgotten. The representative should be considered not a Democrat or a Republican, but a public servant who should be advised by, and listen to the advice of, the people of his district. There is no room for petty politics in discussing the three major legislative problems of political axes, unground or recently used with effect, are forgotten the members of the General Assembly may awaken to the importance of their duties, and may not adjourn as those of the last General Assembly did, after having defeated a road law that was certainly an improvement upon the existing system, and after having ignored all suggestions as to the need of a better system of taxation.—Courier-Journal.

Kentucky's Road Building.

The statistics of expenditures for improved roads gathered by the Department of Agriculture show that Kentucky's outlay in the last year was $2,500,000. When the area of Kentucky and the mileage of good roads already in existence are considered the amount spent compares favorably with the expenditures of other States, but there is yet much to be wished for in the matter of spending road funds so as to get the dollar up to the highest point of efficiency.

Many roads are built upon unscientific principles and many Fiscal Courts let contracts to contractors who have no principles. We have, as a result, many poorly constructed roads that cost as much as good roads ought to cost, and some good roads that cost much more than they should.

The road question will come up for consideration before the General Assembly at its approaching session. It will be one of three or four important matters that will be taken up and should be disposed of without unnecessary delay, yet not without deliberation. That the existing system of handling funds for roads is as obsolete as the methods of road building are in the least progressive counties is pretty generally agreed. There have been leakage, negligence, favoritism and fraud for a century, with no difference of mismanagement under different political parties. The great need is protection for taxpayers from petty grafters and from incompetency in spending the funds collected through taxation.

That the best built road is in the end the cheapest everyone knows. There are enough competent engineers available to insure good construction if suitable provision is made in the road law to remove road building from the hands of the incompetent and irresponsible. The General Assembly should go very thoroughly into the matter of road laws and draft one that will get results.

Millions must be spent for roads. It is important that those millions should be spent for roads, and not for contractors, and that they should be spent by persons capable of making an income for the State from the outlay for roads. At the rate of $2,500,000 a year Kentucky spends $25,000,000 in a decade. How many millions have been "poured into a rat hole" since the beginning of Kentucky's development under a system of road building that is loose-jointed now as it ever was?

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. GOOD RULES FOR THE GIRLS

Issued by the Women's Imperial Health Association of Great Britain and Ireland.

Of more than passing interest to the women of this country are the following rules of conduct issued to "the girls of Great Britain" by the Women's Imperial Health Association of Great Britain and Ireland.

The future of our country is in your hands.

Look your best by all means, but be your best also; the first attracts to begin with, but the second produces the most lasting effect.

You must obey the laws of hygiene, respecting fresh air, exercise, good food, cleanliness and suitable clothing. A healthy girlhood is the best foundation for a happy life.

You must know about cooking, housekeeping and domestic economy.

You must learn about the feeding and care of children; this knowledge does not come by instinct, as many suppose.

Remember that home making is the most dignified and important profession in the world.

Attend, if you can, "continuation classes" in personal and domestic hygiene in your own house, remembering that a good daughter makes the best wife.

Choose the best companions and read the best books you can find. Accept only the best men as your husbands, paying as much attention to their character as to their personal appearance. — Woman's National Weekly.

NOW THEY DON'T SPEAK

Miss Antique—I dreamed of an elopement last night.

Miss Caustique—You shouldn't let your imagination run away with you like that.

FIRST VETERINARY SCHOOL

The third fiftieth anniversary celebrating the erection in Lyon of a veterinary school will be held in that city about the middle of May, 1912. Preparations are now forming to commemorate the event in a fitting manner, and invitations are being issued to all veterinary schools in the United States and elsewhere for the purpose of having delegates in as large a number as possible.

It is authentically recorded in the annals of veterinary science that the world's first veterinary school was founded in Lyon in 1761, since which time similar institutions have been inaugurated in many countries, the last being reported from Abyssinia.

THE MOVEMENT IN EGYPT.

Now it is the Moslem women of Egypt who are taking part in the women movement, having asked of the Moslem congress the right to attend prayers and sermons in the mosques, a privilege already granted to the women of Constantinople. They also ask that the primary education of young women be made obligatory; that young girls be admitted to schools of medicine; to use means to prevent polygamy and the abuse of divorce and to teach Mohammedan girls sewing, housekeeping and hygiene.

ONCE NURSED THE KING.

The one desire of Mrs. Ann Roberts, who was for a year the foster-mother of George V., is said to be to go back from America to England to spend her last days in her old home. She is living with her brother, Mr. Richard Edmunds of Poulney, Vt., but it is hoped that something will be done in her behalf by the British government.

HIS CALCULATIONS.

She—I'll be ready in a minute, dear.

He—All right. I'll just fix up this paper while I'm waiting. It won't take more than an hour."

Practical View of Prizes.

Prizes in the form of medals or plate have almost vanished from fair premium lists, except when offered by breed associations. The utilitarian view has come to be generally accepted. In the days when exhibitors of pedigree stock were largely drawn from the ranks of the rich, trophies of precious metals were popular rewards of showyard merit. The collection of plate gathered by exhibitors of old-time fame certainly graced the sideboard or mantel, and these trophies are cherished as heirlooms by their descendants.

But the utilitarian day succeeded the period of fancy in breeding improved stock, and for some years by odds the majority of exhibitors follow breeding and exhibiting as a livelihood. Gold medals and silver loving cups pay no freight or feedbills. This is the compressed trenchant argument. If the winner of premiums at agricultural exhibitions is flush of funds, he can readily convert his cash prizes into permanent mementos of the triumphs of his animals, if he so desires. Those whose bread and butter come from their stock sales and winnings can devote the cash to the most efficient purpose.

If there is somewhat less of sentiment in this change in fair premiums, there is more business sense. Rather tardily the National Creamery and Butter Makers' Association accepts the idea, and the premiums offered at its exhibit at the National Dairy Show will be gold medals or gold watches, at the option of the winner. The gold watch prize idea is rather happy one, as it represents a capital blending of the useful with the sentimental.

Mt. Sterling Citizens Gladly Testify and Confidentially Recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Mt. Sterling citizen:

Mrs. Mary Hinson, 21 Strother street, Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "I believe that if I had not used Doan's Kidney Pills, I would not be living today. My health was poor and two of our best physicians stated that I could not expect to recover. They gave me a year to prepare for my sad fate. The kidney secretions were unnatural and at times my body bloated. I was nervous and suffered severely from headaches and dizzy spells. Spots floated before my eyes and I often had to grasp something for support. My back was weak and I could not stoop to button my shoes, in fact, could hardly get around. I was so much impressed by a testimonial given in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills that I decided to try them and procured a box at Duerson's Drug Store. They gave me immediate relief and I continued taking them until I was in good health. I have but little trouble from my kidneys now and for that reason recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly."
